HARRIMAN INSTITUTE FACULTY PUBLICATION GRANTS

Publication Grants are awarded to current Harriman Faculty members to help defray production costs of book manuscripts. Eligible costs include, for example, indexing, permissions, illustrations, translation, publisher subvention, proofreading, editing. Grants cannot be used to pay for photocopies, research assistance, computer software or equipment, supplies, mailing expenses, author’s copies.

Grants generally do not exceed 5,000. Funds are paid directly to the contractor/institution providing goods or services, not to the faculty member.

Applications should include the following information: title, 500-word description, table of contents; whether the book is under contract with a publisher, and if so, projected publication date; budget for expenses to be covered.

Deadline: Friday, February 26, 2021.

Funds will be available from May 1, 2021, and must be used by June 30, 2022. Grants cannot be extended for an additional period—a new application must be submitted.
