

Metropolitan Borys Gudziak is Archbishop of Philadelphia for the Ukrainian Catholics in the United States of America. In 2019, after his appointment by Pope Francis, the Most Reverend Borys Gudziak was enthroned as Archbishop of Philadelphia for Ukrainians and Metropolitan for the Ukrainian Catholic Church in the United States of America. Archbishop Gudziak has studied at renowned institutions throughout the world, including Syracuse University, Harvard University and the Pontifical Oriental Institute. In Lviv, Ukraine, Gudziak founded and directed the Institute of Church History and became President of the Ukrainian Catholic University. From 2012-2019 Gudziak served as Bishop of the Ukrainian Greek Catholic Church in France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxemburg and Switzerland, and was most recently appointed by Pope Francis as a member of the Congregation for the Oriental Churches. Archbishop's scholarly works include his doctoral dissertation on sixteenth-century church history, Crisis and Reform: The Kyivan Metropolitantate, the Patriarchate of Constantinople, and the Genesis of the Union of Brest as well as numerous articles in European and North American academic journals. He has also published more than 600 videos and articles and interviews in popular magazines, newspapers, commentary on political, cultural, and religious affairs, position papers on academic curricula and educational reform, and introductions to scholarly and spiritual publications. He is among the authors of A Pope Francis Lexicon. He speaks English, Ukrainian, Italian, Polish, French, Russian, and German, all of them with an accent. He continues to be a member of the "Plast" Ukrainian Scouting Organization and heads its supervisory board in Ukraine. He is an honorary citizen of Lviv.