

Monika Zaleska is a writer, translator, and PhD candidate in comparative literature at the CUNY Graduate Center. She has an MFA from Brooklyn College, where she served as fiction editor of The Brooklyn Review, and currently teaches in the English department. She is also a lecturer in Polish literature at Hunter College.