

Amir Husak is a documentary media maker and Assistant Professor of Media Studies at The New School. Husak's work explores the documentary as social practice and investigates digital media representations of history, migration and memory. He has shown his work at Cinemateca Distrital (Bogota, Colombia), Sarajevo Film Festival (Bosnia & Herzegovina), Stadtmuseum Graz (Austria), South by Southwest (US), and Sundance Film Festival (US). Husak currently serves as Artistic Director of BHFF NYC Film Festival, a showcase of cinema from Southeast Europe and its diasporas.