

Marijeta Bozovic is Professor of Slavic Languages and Literatures at Yale University, with secondary appointments in Film and Media Studies and Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. She works on twentieth- and twenty-first-century Russian and East European literatures and cultures, focusing on avant-gardes and politically engaged aesthetics, translation and remediation, and various forms of transnational cultural networks. She is the author of Nabokov's Canon: From Onegin to Ada and Avant-Garde Post–: Radical Poetics After the Soviet Union. Her current project, Imagining Russian Hackers: Myths of Men and Machines, is co-authored with media theorist and historian Benjamin Peters.
